CUBS AND PIRATES INDULGE IN COUNTER CHARGES.

Rowdiness prevalent. With both teams said to be at fault—Chicago after umpire Klem—Pittsburgh Club turns down non-members—"Night Riders."

As the major league baseball races reach the crucial stage rowdiness appears to be breaking out in spite of stringent rules. The recent series between the Cubs and the Pirates in Pittsburgh has caused much ill feeling among the players, while the officials at loggerheads. President Murphy, Secretary Williams and Manager Chance of the Cubs say they are going to make formal charges against umpire Klem for making the alleged statement on a train to Pittsburgh that he intended to "get" several of the champions. The Cubs' officials also insist that Klem carried out his threat in Tuesday's game when he fired Tinker and Chance and then enabled the Pirates to win. The Chicago club, in a statement issued yesterday, accuses Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburghs of using obscene language during the games on Forbes field which caused many fans to leave the grand stand, and according to the Chicago Club, Umpire Klem failed to remove Clarke and other members of the Pittsburgh team who indulged in disorderly conduct.

The Pittsburgh club, on the other hand, backs up Klem, who is also supported by President Heydler of the National League. Heydler has imposed fines on Steinfield, Chance and Tinker, while Evers has been charged with unprofessional conduct. The Cubs are charged by hoodlums and are charged with unprofessional conduct. The fact that President Heydler saw the Chicago-Pittsburgh games himself and backed up his umpire is regarded as sufficient proof that the Cubs were to blame. But if Evers drew a three days suspension for kicking over decisions, it is hard to understand why Steinfield, Tinker and Chance did not suffer a like penalty for a violation of the rules, which usually results that way.

In view of the methods employed by the Cubs last year when they won the pennant from the Giants on a technicality, their behavior in Pittsburgh is not altogether surprising. Baseball men say. But it may be well to note the fact, say the critics, that while the Cubs were not punished by rowdy tactics on the field, Manager Clarke has been arrested on the complaint of a man who declared that he had been thrown down a flight of concrete steps at Forbes field last Monday. The charge of rowdiness is also supported by a Cleveland hotel watchman against John Cobb of the Detroit team who was charged with kicking a man out of a room and up and down the stairs.

The Highlanders are receiving praise from many critics for playing their best against the Red Sox and Athletics. Although they seem to have no chance of climbing out of the second division the men are hustling all the time and Stallings says they intend to make the best of the situation. The Athletics, by the way, will try out several new players, notably Shortstop Coach, Third Baseman Timmer, Outfielder Gray and Pitcher Carroll before the season ends, so that they can get line on their calibre before the spring training trip. President Farrell has said nearly $200,000 for new material and his scouts say they have gathered the best. The Giants will probably try out several new men this month, notably Pitcher Drucker, who comes from Texas with a fine reputation.

President Gibson of the Fairmont A. C. announced yesterday that he has turned down nearly 200 applications for membership in the Ketchikan-Langford boat next Friday night because they came from non-members. The members of the club before the battle and that no tickets would be sold to the hands of spectators any more. The members have received a formal notice to the effect that they cannot gain access to the clubhouse unless they are members. The usual credentials at the door, after which they will be allowed to try for the seats, they have been refused. The club's official referee, John Ketchikan, has been instructed to prevent any further interference when a knockout appears imminent. John, it is understood, has the power to stop the fight at any time. His opinion that the men are not trying, but that is only a precaution, as the club officials are confident that the fight will be a good one on its merits. It is also said that in spite of a permanent injunction which protects the club against interference, the authorities will receive an invitation to be present so that they can see for themselves that the fight is not violated. There will be three rounds of boxing at the Fairmont A. C. tonight, the star bout being a ten round fair between Young Otto and Johnny Minto, which looks like a drawing card.

Another big boxing club has been organized, it is said, by Thomas F. O'Rourke, who has leased the American Hotel for the purpose of Broadway and Fifth street for the club's entertainments. The first bout will be a ten round affair between Lennox Crockett and Harlem Tommy Murphy. If the club is successful other notable contests will be arranged, but O'Rourke will steer clear of the heavyweights.

Billy Roche, who refereed the Ketchikan-Papke battle in California recently, believes that Langford and Johnson will both defeat Ketchikan and will then meet for the heavyweight championship of the world.

After much probing it appears that the turf governors are not inclined to believe there is anything serious in the case of the "night riders" who were arrested last Monday for working Ostend so as to kill his chances for winning a race the following day. A man closely identified with the government of racing said yesterday that these "night riders" were evidently working on their own hook and were not in the employ of some big bookmaker, for the reason that they are now without money and nobody has come to their assistance with a profit of legal advice. This man declared that the "night riders" possibly peddled information about the horses that had been run off their feet in the dark and were willing to receive a paltry sum for the information. Furthermore, the statement was made that the race at the last race track, the one which are no dishonest riders, trainers or layers, and that there is no basis for the many unpleasant rumors to the contrary. But in spite of these sayings it is believed that a thorough investigation is going on and that several persons are under surveillance.

This is the most unprofitable season in the turf career of John E. Madden. The racing stable he brought from Kentucky early in the year has accomplished comparatively nothing. His two-year-olds have failed to show any special standard, and as a result he is far down in the list of winning owners. An Madden has sold practically all his yearlings to R. T. Wilson, Jr., he will have a very small stable next year. But the Master of Hamble Place, who has made a fortune out of the turf, says he isn't worrying and that in 1911 he will be heard from again.

"They may charge Dugan with foul play," said a regular at the Bay yesterday. "But nobody can accuse the boy of not trying his best. He is out to win with every quiver of his muscles. He has not been guilty of losing looking horsemanship. He can ride for my money all the time, though he runs and jumps like a dog." "Of some of the other fashionable jockeys I cannot say as much."

Talk of a match race between Fitz Herbert and Masketto to decide the three-year-old championship has been revived, but wise men at the track say it is another case of hot air.
